

Step-by-Step Drawing Guide

How to draw a winter tree.

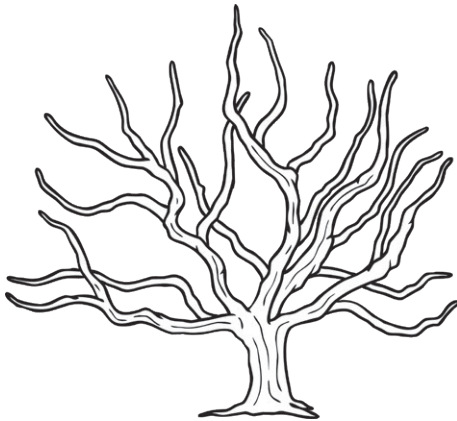

1. Begin with the trunk. Think about the size and shape of the tree. Does it tilt to one side? The outline should be thick and heavy.

2. Next, draw 5 main branches. These should not be as thick as the trunk but the line should be heavy. Are your branches curved? Or do you need sharp lines?

3. Now it is time to add supporting branches. These are branches we cannot see join the trunk because they are behind our main branches. These should be thinner and smaller in appearance.

4. Now, add in smaller branches coming away from your main supporting branches. These lines will be thinner and sharper.

5. Finally, add some twigs to your branches. These should be made up of short, thin, lines. Think carefully about the directions.
